

BRETT MURRAY, C.A.S.

Production Sound Mixer

Member IATSE 479

Brett Murray's 20+ years' experience quickly overcomes sound challenges and delivers outstanding tracks. Respected for his Production Sound capabilities by Producers and Directors alike, he works closely with Directors to understand and convey their creative style and vision and capture actor performances. Brett Murray started his interest in Sound as a musician. In ninth grade at his Alabama school he headed the sound department as the youngest student ever to hold that role. He began mixing for student films, live music and theatrical productions. During his junior year in high school Brett left to work on his first feature film "Under Siege" where he met veteran Sound Mixer Scott Smith and cemented his enthusiasm for feature film Production Sound. Soon after graduating, Brett learned Sound Utility under Mixer Whit Norris in Atlanta. Moving to Los Angeles in 1996, Brett furthered his education and pursued musical interests. In 2003, he returned to the south and resides in Atlanta, GA. Brett works with acclaimed Directors including Lisa Joy, Kevin Smith, Mike Flanagan, James Mangold and Jordan Peele to name a few. Brett's work on "The True Don Quixote" earned Best Sound Award recognition from The New Orleans Film Festival in 2018
