

INGRID URICH-SASS

Script Supervisor

IATSE local 871

Bi-lingual Script Supervisor Ingrid Urich-Sass moved from Mexico City to Florida to attend the University of Miami to study Marine Biology where she ended up getting involved in the Miami Film Festival and meeting acclaimed film director Lasse Halstrom who suggested she become a Script Supervisor. As soon as her training was done she began working and hasn't stopped. Ingrid loves the whole creative process and helping the director achieve his/her vision. She loves the intensity and being in the center of everything on set. Ingrid is a problem solver and her recurring directors trust and appreciate her skills and intuition. Ingrid was one of the first to use ScriptE and transition to digital. One of Ingrid's passions is still photography and she often shoots stills for production which are sometimes used for advertising. She loves capturing the essence of the moment, whether it's crew working on set, "natural" headshots, a wedding or other emotional moment or product shoots. Ingrid is fluent in English and Spanish and based in Los Angeles.
