Clothes make the story. You will know about that character before the actor ever utters a line. The reality of the portrayal is told immediately by what he/she is wearing. That's Karen Young's goal and purpose and she does it with sincerity. She utilizes a vast array of skills when putting together the costumes for a show or movie. Karen's smalltown childhood and urban adulthood, mixed with an adventurous nature and love of research, allows her to understand and be clear on the mission that most people only guess at. Karen is local in New York and Los Angeles.
