

PAULINE GRAY

Script Supervisor

IATSE local 871

Bi-lingual English and French Script Supervisor Pauline Gray has worked in Commercials, Features and Television and she understands the complexities and differences in the mediums. The commercial directors Pauline has worked with include A-List feature filmmakers Darren Aronofsky, James Mangold and Ron Howard. With over 200 commercials to her credit, including some in French, Pauline's work includes specializing in the increasingly popular and ever changing technology of visual effects.

In addition, Pauline also writes Treatments and copy for all genres including branded content. She has done much of this work with European and non-native English speaking directors. When working for an internationally based client, Pauline works according to their time zone/schedule or a 24 hour clock in order to best serve their needs. When the job awards, the directors usually request Pauline script supervise the shoot. In this way, she has a full grasp on the project from inception to completion. Pauline is both Los Angeles and Salt Lake City, Utah local.
