Who knew that grinding rust from the bottoms of grip trucks would prove to be a fortuitous start to Shawn Sundby's film career? The subsequent on-set education and mentorship from several amazing professionals provided the real world skill set needed to create powerful images. Shawn's four-year stint in stop motion animation, including Laika (Will Vinton Studios) continues to influence his live action work through thoughtful planning, inventive shot design, and shooting for post effects. Shawn's love of lighting and creating distinctive looks can be seen in commercials, successful viral campaigns and long form narratives. He has shot for many Fortune 500 companies including Nike, Intel, HP, 3M and Proctor & Gamble.
