Directors Guild of America

Warren Ostergard has over two dozen feature films as Producer and is an established DGA Unit Production Manager well versed in film finance and creative finance structures. These invaluable qualities have made him one of the more prolific independent producers in the business. Prior to the formation of Producer Capital Fund, Black Bear Studios and his own production company Vitamin A Films (which has a National Term deal with IATSE), Warren was a producer and a founder of the Hollywood based Blue Cow Creative, the production shingle of PlastiCity Digital Post. Warren often works on locations across the U.S. where he works extensively with various state tax incentive programs. When he is not working he loves spending time with his wife, Kate, their son Trip and their dog Bella.
