Josh began his career in set lighting, quickly working his way up to gaffer and collaborating on numerous commercials, music videos and feature films. He took the knowledge of lighting he learned after working with many talented DPs and applied it to his own style of shooting. Josh prides himself on his easy to work with attitude, absolute love of his craft and his ability to bring visual style to any project regardless of limitations. In 2011, Josh shot one of the winning commercials in the Pepsi Crash the Super Bowl contest. Since then he has shot commercials for many national advertisers including Adidas, Homewood Suites, Post and Mattel. Josh has also shot many projects in 3D as DP/Stereographer including as 2nd Unit Stereographer on Fox's hit feature Dawn of The Planet Of The Apes. Josh is always looking for new, exciting and creatively challenging projects. Splitting his time between Los Angeles and Atlanta, he loves the travel aspect of production and is available for work worldwide.
